Modern Art Exhibit Visits MS Campus

The Museum of Modern Art of New York City will exhibit a series of original paintings entitled fantastic Landscapes at MSTC from April 15 through May 6, announced Dr. Nels Johnson, Chairman of the department.

The twenty paintings selected for this exhibition are by outstanding European and American artists, including such widely known surrealists as Ernst, Magritte, Berman, Man Ray, Tanguy, Peter Blume, Kay Sage; as well as Mason, Donati, Murch, Brauner, Dubuffet, Congdon and Glesco.

Imaginative artists throughout the centuries have not only looked at the real world with eyes of wonder, but have further delighted in creating realms that exist only in their mind's eye. Each painter's visions differ from that of the other painters. Fantastic though these visions may be each painter is working from an individual approach. The fictitious landscapes they invent often seem, like dreams, to have an immediacy more vivid than life itself.

The paintings selected for this exhibition demonstrate that there can be many different kinds of modern fantastic landscapes.

Yves Tanguy's biological shapes, made of stone-like substance, are frozen in a horizonless wasteland. Three-dimensional though these forms are, they nevertheless exist in a place where land and sky are one.

MS Faculty Studies Ethics

The MSTC Faculty Association, one of the local branches of the MEA is participating in a pilot study of professional ethics, Dr. Earl Foreman, Faculty Association president, announced. The final meeting of a group of three meetings is scheduled for Monday, April 23 from 4:00 p.m. to 5:00 p.m.

MS is the only college invited to take part in the project, which includes teachers from public and private schools throughout Minnesota.

Plans for the study are being made by a committee consisting of Miss Dorothy Johnson, of the social studies division, chairman, Dr. Werner Brand, principal of MSTC high school, Miss Ruth Hanson, of the MSTC elementary school, and Dr. Lloyd Watkins, of the language and literature division.

Discussion groups will present findings of their studies on "Ways to Promote Teacher Welfare," "Salary Schedules," "The NEA Code of Ethics," and "Teacher Contracts."

structures projecting into, or suddenly suspended over bottomless voids, never-ending cells of buildings progressing on and into space.

A special opening will be held from 2 to 5 p.m. on Sunday, April 15. The public as well as the students and faculty are invited to attend the opening. After April 15, the exhibit may be viewed in the art studios and corridors on the third floor of MacLean hall. The exhibit will be open Monday through Friday from 2 to 5 p.m. This exhibit is made possible through the facilities of the Student Activities fund.

Following the showing at Moorhead State Teachers College, the exhibition will continue on its tour throughout the country until it returns, this summer, to The Museum of Modern Art in New York City.

HS Plans First Science Fair To Further Interest In Science

What is a science fair? That is a question to which most of us should know the answer, for MSTC will be holding its first science fair, April 21.

First of all, a science fair is an exhibition and display of projects developed and made by high school students. These students will bring their exhibits to be displayed in the large and small gyms that day.

Secondly, the purpose of such a fair, according to Dr. Genevieve King, director of the Moorhead region fair is to "stimulate an interest in science." As a further stimulation, blue and red ribbons will be awarded. Those who receive blue ribbons may compete for further honors at the annual meeting of the Minnesota Junior Academy of Science held May 5 at Augsburg College, Minneapolis.

Since this is MS's first fair, Dr. King does not expect too large a crowd, but is assured that there will be a year by year increase as the event gets established. She also added that MS has promised to give one this year and will hereafter, so that it will become a yearly affair.

Any student in grades 7 to 12 inclusive in the area may enter an exhibit as long as they conform to certain rulings. The exhibits are then judged on creative ability, scientific thought, thoroughness, skill, clarity, and dramatic value.

The divisions in which the exhibits may be entered are as follows: grades 7 and 8; general science, grade 9; physical and biological science; grades 10, 11, and 12; biology, chemistry, mathematics, and physics. Also included in the divisions mentioned above

Two Summer Sessions, One Intercession Offered

In the one week intercession and two regular sessions this summer, a faculty of 60 will offer a total of 118 courses. The two summer sessions constitute a full quarter of college work, and two hour's credit is given for each of the intercession institutes.

In order that the second session may be finished a week earlier this year, all classes will meet daily Monday through Saturday during the summer. The first session will begin with registration Monday, June 11 and end Saturday July 14. The second session will extend from July 16 to August 18.

The intercession during the week of June 4 to 9 will include four workshops given concurrently. These will feature visiting consultants from other schools and from the state department of education officials. The workshops will be in conservation, teachers guidance, remedial reading, and audio-visual instruction.

The remedial reading institute will feature Dr. Paul Witty, head of the Psycho-educational clinic at Northwestern University. Nat Johnson of the Minnesota conservation commission will be consultant for the institute on conservation. This is the first time work in this area has been offered at MS.

The other two institutes on audio-visual instruction and guidance will have as consultants Arnold Luce of the Minnesota department of education and Theodore Ording of the Alexandria, Minnesota School system. Faculty coordinators include Dr. Allen G. Erickson, reading; H. B. Adicott, audio-visual instruction; R. R. Sorenson, teacher guidance; and Mason Boudrye, conservation. Further information concerning any of these institutes may be obtained by writing the Director of Admissions.

The regular summer sessions are designed for graduate students, those who are already teaching, and high school seniors who want to begin college immediately after graduation, as well as regular students.

The graduate program this year will be the most extensive ever offered. It will include fifteen courses in elementary supervision, elementary administration, English, speech, social studies, industrial arts, education, mathematics, health and physical education.

Dr. Byron D. Murray is the general director of the summer term. Commencement exercises will be held at the end of the second session for all those completing work for degrees or diplomas.

Commissioners Attend Joint STC Meeting

Members of the new and of the old commissions will attend a meeting with the other Minnesota teachers colleges at Bemidji State Teachers College on Friday and Saturday, April 27 and 28. The problems to be discussed will be —

1. Fraternities and Sororities.
2. Student Governments and their constitutions.
3. Freshmen initiation.
4. Social affairs.
5. Alumni associations.
6. Student unions.

Members of our commission will head the panels discussing the problems and advantages of fraternities and sororities, and the functions and workings of our student government and its constitution. The other colleges will head and lead the other groups listed.

Bruce Reski, moderator of the meeting, will get the meetings under way on Friday, and they will continue through Saturday noon. At this meeting, a new moderator and other officers will be elected to preside at the meetings to be held in the future.

Spring Reveals Littered Campus

Although I may be going way on a limb with saw in hand when I make the statement, spring is here. I can tell, for the trash is beginning to come up.

As the snow melts on the campus, we are able to determine how many packages of cigarettes, how many candy bars, how many sticks of gum, and how many cans of beer were consumed by MSTC people during the winter months. And we are able to see what brands college students prefer.

We admit that we are as guilty as the next in regard to tossing refuse to one side as we walk to and from classes. It is so easy to blandly discard paper and trash, and who will ever know? Tomorrow it will snow again, and everything will be covered.

Last month we had the pleasure of attending, with President Knoblauch, the president of the student commission, and the publicity commissioner, a meeting of the elementary school student council at the campus school.

These youngsters, two delegates from each class from kindergarten through sixth grade, meet in regular student council meetings, similar to those of the student commission. On this particular occasion, they wished to confer with some representatives from the college on a subject about which they were concerned. It was precisely the matter on which we have been writing. Littering of the campus.

It was very heartening to see these young citizens carrying on their meeting, and expressing such an avid interest in an issue that should concern every one of us. Their principal complaint was an incident that had occurred during the winter in the campus school playground areas. Some of the children had constructed a "very elegant snow fort" to quote one of the campus school supervisors, who briefed us on what lay in store for us in the meeting before we entered the council room. One evening, someone had destroyed their snow fort and had thrown a number of empty beer cans around in the snow near it. They were not registering a complaint about the destruction of their snow fort, although it seemed to us as if they had adequate ground, but rather on the littering of the campus. They had noticed at earlier occasions the amount of paper and refuse that is scattered about on the campus.

During the course of the meeting, we of the college were absolved of any specific blame for the incident that we have mentioned, for it was impossible to know who had done it. However, several suggestions were offered to reduce the amount of littering.

One suggestion was a joint meeting of the elementary and secondary student councils with the Student Commission on the subject. A Campus Clean-up Day was endorsed, and suggestions were made that signs be posted.

It is our sincere feeling that the posting of signs will not gain anything, for the people who commit the infractions know perfectly well that they should not do it. Don't we? What we need, rather, is a more adult sense of responsibility and a more sincere pride in the appearance of our college campus. These cannot be legislated. Can they be exhorted? Perhaps. Let us consider ourselves duly exhorted.

Mr. Walter Seidenkranz, publications advisor, informs us that he has not received any applications for the position of editor of the 1957 Dragon. In a college with an enrollment of over 900 students, there should be someone who could edit a yearbook. It is an excellent opportunity to express one's creative talents, and an excellent chance for journalistic experience. The publications board would prefer to have interested people apply in person; rather than hang back and wait until someone contacts them.

Reader Cautions Motorists Against Continued Violations

"They have eyes and they see not—"

The telephone rang just before twelve noon; and, as I listened to the voice on the other end of the line, I could not but help think of the above quotation. The voice said, "Mr. Ortner, a little boy was hit by a car in front of MacLean hall. He had run out from between the cars parked there."

I have little boys going to school here on campus and I hope the call will never come for me to take my little boy to the hospital because of a like situation.

We post signs, we send out notices, and we put tickets on the cars of people who willfully violate the parking regulations. What must be done to open your eyes to the potential threat you create for others? What if a fire starts in the dormitory and the engine can't get by? Must a child be killed before you see that these regulations are made to help you, or wouldn't your conscience bother you if you were responsible for someone's death? I believe we all know the source of, "They have eyes and they see not—"; and he was a great teacher.

Representative Senior

Kavanagh Letters In Three Sports

by Barbara Eckles

A good-natured and smiling Ray Kavanagh, one of this year's ten representative seniors, is finding this his best quarter at MS as he launches into student teaching.

Ray, who graduated from high school in his home town of Appleton, Minnesota in 1952, attended South Dakota State College in Brookings, South Dakota for one quarter before coming to MS his freshman year.

Interested in sports, Ray lost no time in becoming a member of the football, basketball, and baseball teams at MS, and he lettered in all three sports for two years. Intramural sports, M-Club, and being in charge of the athletic equipment room his junior year have kept him busy and active in the athletic program.

After breaking his foot this winter in a first attempt at skiing, Ray said that although he just can't wait for the next snowfall, he thinks he will spend his spare time watching sports events from now on.

As a member of the Owl fraternity, Ray served as monk this year, and he believes that fraternities "definitely" add zest to college life, and give the members a sense of belonging.

Ray likes people. He is a counselor in Ballard hall this year, and he says meeting and becoming acquainted with new people are what he will remember most about college. He reflected that he has enjoyed seeing the different ways in which people he knows have progressed from their freshman to senior years in college.

"This is the best quarter I've spent in school," Ray said of his student teaching. He is assigned to physical education and social studies in the campus high school and is looking forward to helping coach baseball — "If the snow ever leaves."

With his experiences in physical education and athletics Ray will be missed next year. His future plans — to coach, of course.

Bulletin Stresses Varied Curricula

A special issue of The Bulletin which came out this week represents something that has not been done before at MSTC.

This Bulletin is novel because it features the variety of opportunities for students attending this college. It lists the pre-professional opportunities and stresses the advantages of taking the first two years at MSTC. The majority of the courses listed have been offered for many years, but MSTC is not usually recognized as more than a teachers college.

The teaching field is highlighted with emphasis on the variety of opportunities in teaching and school administration. This section stresses the idea that teaching is a broad field that covers many areas of interest.

The Bulletin is a ten-page pamphlet complete with pictures and sketches. The sketches, which depict college life, were drawn by Dr. Nels Johnson, chairman of the art department.

WAA Tennis Players In Meet At Carleton

MSTC women have been invited to participate in the Carleton Invitational Tennis Tournament May 4 and 5 at Carleton College in Northfield.

Each school participating may enter six participants, two doubles teams and two singles. No player may enter both singles and doubles.

Registration at Carleton will be held from 10:30-12:30 only, on May 4. Matches begin at 1:00 p.m.

Inexpensive awards will be presented to first and second place winners.

Students in the department and any guests who would like to may officiate. Official tennis rules will be used.

This is the first year in recent times that MSTC women have had the opportunity to participate in tennis matches. Any college woman who would like to participate is asked to contact Vivian Floberg no later than April 16, in order that accommodations may be arranged.

The Women's Athletic Association encourages all women who have interest in tennis to turn out for practice in the big gym on Tuesdays from 4:00-5:00.

If you have your own racquet, bring it along; otherwise, the WAA will provide racquets and balls for your use.

Experience is not a pre-requisite for participation but interest is necessary. The WAA, as in all sports, has co-captains who will give instruction in fundamentals and rules.

Larry Krabbenhoft, a junior from Sabin, was elected president of the "M" Club. Along with Krabbenhoft, John Haugo from Waubun was chosen as vice-president; Eugene Godel from Wadena, treasurer; and Neil Sussenguth from Breckenridge as secretary.

The Dragons will play all their home games at Barnett Field, home of the Fargo-Moorhead Twins, according to a verbal agreement made with Ken Blackman, manager of the Twins, before his departure for spring training camp.

Dragon baseball players have been working out in the big gymnasium the past weeks. Batting practice is held there with the protection of heavy nets to safeguard the windows.

Witt, Bolger Near Finals In Badminton

Intramural badminton doubles started Thursday, April 5 in the big gym, with the players moving into a single elimination and consolation tournament. Each team plays three games with their opponent. The best of two out of three wins the match, and has the right to advance to the next bracket.

The favored twosome, Lyle Witt and Lowell Bolger, who defeated Red Torgerson and Ken Grabinske in the first round and won over James Rice and Richard Bowden in the second, have only to win one more game which will put them in the final play-off.

Oliphant and Chard play Rietan and Serum, the winners will face Bolger and Witt. The winners will be ceded in the final play off.

Krabbenhoft and Shuckhart face the winners of team play between Gray-Dulski and Thompson-Betzen. Zicafoose and Deinhart meet Kaiser and Grefsrud; the winners of that game will play one of the preceding teams for a place in the finals.

Dragon Golfers Open At NDU; First Match Set For May 2

MSTC golfers will begin an eight-meet season on May 2, when they travel to the University of North Dakota, where they will golf with teams from UND, NDSC, and Concordia.

The same four schools will be represented in tournaments at North Dakota State College on May 4, and here at MSTC on May 8. On May 12, they will compete at the Bemidji Invitational at Bemidji State Teachers College.

Golfers from Jamestown College, MSTC, and Concordia College will compete here on May 15. Concordia

from the editor's desk SPORTS NOTES

With the emergence of spring the track team finally has had the chance to do some serious working out. Monday night the track team went over to Concordia to use the indoor track. It's about time, the first meet of the year is this Saturday night at Concordia.

Roger Maris, a former Fargo-Moorhead baseball player, thinks that maybe he was better suited for playing college football than playing pro baseball. Maris, who attended Oklahoma for two semesters, played freshman football under Bud Wilkinson and is currently on the Indianapolis Indians roster.

The student managers have been chosen for the track and baseball teams. Jim Lahren and Don Dahlquist, both of Moorhead, are student managers of the track and baseball teams respectively.

For those who are interested in baseball, NBC Spectacular is putting on a "Salute To Baseball" Sunday, April 15, from 6:30 to 8 p.m. Among the baseball celebrities to be presented are Yogi Berra, Bob Feller, Al Kaline, Willie Mays, and many others.

Several of the team rosters for intramural softball have been turned in and it looks like a balanced field. As soon as either six or eight teams have been turned in, a league will be set up and a round-robin schedule drawn up.

Lettermen

Seventeen men gained letters for their participation in winter athletics. Eleven received their numerals for basketball. To letter in basketball one must play in one more quarter than the number of games played.

Those lettering in basketball were Ron Miller, Appleton; Don Torgerson, Hancock; Ken Reitan, Comstock; Sherman Moe, Ada; Phil Kieselbach, Barnesville; Darrel Hesby, Halstad; Don Dulski, Perham; Bruce Douglas, Hendrum; Lowell Bolger, Moorhead; Dale Serum, Halstad; and Phil Buhn, Mentor. Don Torgerson was named honorary captain for the past year.

Lettering in wrestling requires that one must wrestle in half the meets. Five wrestlers meet this requirement and a sixth, who student coached, also lettered. They are: Ron Kragness, Canby; Keith Dyre, Detroit Lakes; Orville Moran, Little Falls; Jerry Keogh, Moorhead; Henry Hettwer, Carrington, North Dakota; and Dave Montplaisir, Horace, North Dakota.

AROUND THE GREAT CIRCLE

Rushing begins . . .

Spring rushing is the big news from our four sororities this week. All the fun parties were held last week for the spring rushees. They pledged as follows: Judy Henning and Darlene Larson — Beta Chi; Mary Bergford — Gamma Nu; Diane Reski — Pi Mu Phi; and Marilyn Gill, Loreen Holmberg, Sharon Jacobson, Susan Jacobson, Psi Delta Kappa. Pledging and informal initiation will take place in the following weeks for these girls.

Pi Mu Phi news . . .

The Pi's had a bake sale this week too. It was held at the Rexall Drug store in Moorhead and was reported to be successful. Pledging and installation of the new officers was held Tuesday evening in the sorority room.

Library Changes Overdue Book Policy

Tired of receiving green overdue notices in your mailbox? Beginning this quarter, the students who have a book overdue at the library will find that a yellow notice has replaced many of the old familiar green ones.

Don't be too happy about the change of color, however. The yellow notice will cost the receiver 25 cents. It will be sent only when library materials are at least a week overdue.

Library users are cautioned not to wait to return or renew a book until a librarian notifies them it is overdue. The date due slip in the front of the book tells the reader when the book should be returned. So, unless you want to pay for a 25 cent overdue notice, WATCH THAT DUE DATE!
